JOHN GILBERT

An integral part of Waynesboro High School for many years has been Mr. John Gilbert, chairman of the school's business department. A graduate of Virginia Tech with a degree in business education, Mr. Gilbert has spent all of his 29-year teaching career at WHS, including student teaching.

A resident of Staunton, Mr. Gilbert and his wife Beverley have three children and four grandchildren. His number-one hobby is following Virginia Tech sports, and he is well known as one of the leading "Hokie" fans in the area.

Over the years, Mr. Gilbert has assisted in the production of the school yearbook by allowing staff members to use the business department typing facilities and by making his office telephone available to the staff adviser. More than that, Mr. Gilbert's moral support and genuine concern for the hard work that it takes to produce the yearbook is a great source of comfort. For all of these reasons, SKYLINE '85 is dedicated to Mr. John Gilbert.

WHS Principal Thomas Muncy, Homecoming King and Queen Doug Sadosuk and Susan Wood, and Crown Bearers Jay Hullett and Claire Covington.

This year the WHS Homecoming was on Friday, the nineteenth of October. To get in the mood of Homecoming, the school observed "Spirit Week" which consisted of such activities as "Hat and Button Day", "Inside-Out Day", and "Purple and Gold Day". These efforts were rewarded by the Little Giant Football Team as they defeated the Falcons of Central High School. During halftime of the game, Doug Sadosuk and Susan Wood were crowned King and Queen. Festivities concluded the following night with the Homecoming Dance — this year entitled "Almost Paradise."

The street lights are shining bright. The billboards are shedding their light. And my crowd's out hanging around tonight.

A smile makes the day a little brighter.

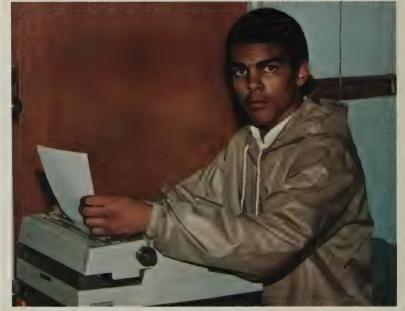

Young and restless friend, you'll never pass this way again, so drink the summer wine, reach for the stars while you have time. Your restless dreams will lead the way; so dream your dreams and live for each day while you are young.

I have often heard that the ways of man are hard, but the simple fact remains that love seems to be the answer. And now, I trust this to you.

CLASS OF '85 — TRADITION LIVES

In the past four years, the Class of 1985 has experienced many great times ay Waynesboro High School. As a result of the most recent city school reorganization, this was the first ninth grade class to attend WHS since the 1960's. From the time that they arrived in the fall of 1981, members of the class have assumed a lot of responsibility and have demonstrated that they were equal to the task.

In the final year, 1984-85, leaders of the Class of '85 not only kept tradition going but revived some past traditions. They initiated "The Spring Formal" to take the place of the Prom which had been dropped several years before. Also, with the help of the National Honor Society, the Senior Committee was successful in reinstating the popular "Senior Wills." The seniors continued operating the concession stand at home basketball games to raise money for a treasury that was already overflowing from previous efforts. Other traditions that were kept alive were the Senior Play and Finals Dance.

Members of the 1984-85 Senior Class can be very proud of their accomplishments. It is now up to future senior classes to meet the challenge set forth by the Class of '85. Good Luck!

With graduation drawing near, members of the Class of '85 reminisce and savor "One More Night" . . .

GRADUATION NIGHT — JUNE 7, 1985

Due to inclement weather, Commencement for the Class of 1985 was held indoors in the Louis Spilman Auditorium. A large crowd necessitated that televisions be set up in the school gymnasium so that the overflow crowd could view the ceremonies by closed-circuit.

After the invocation by Rev. J.H. Cline and presentation of the traditional class gift to the school by Salutatorian Dea Mahanes, senior president Kevin Lucas introduced Commencement speaker, Reggie Smith of the Virginia Education Association.

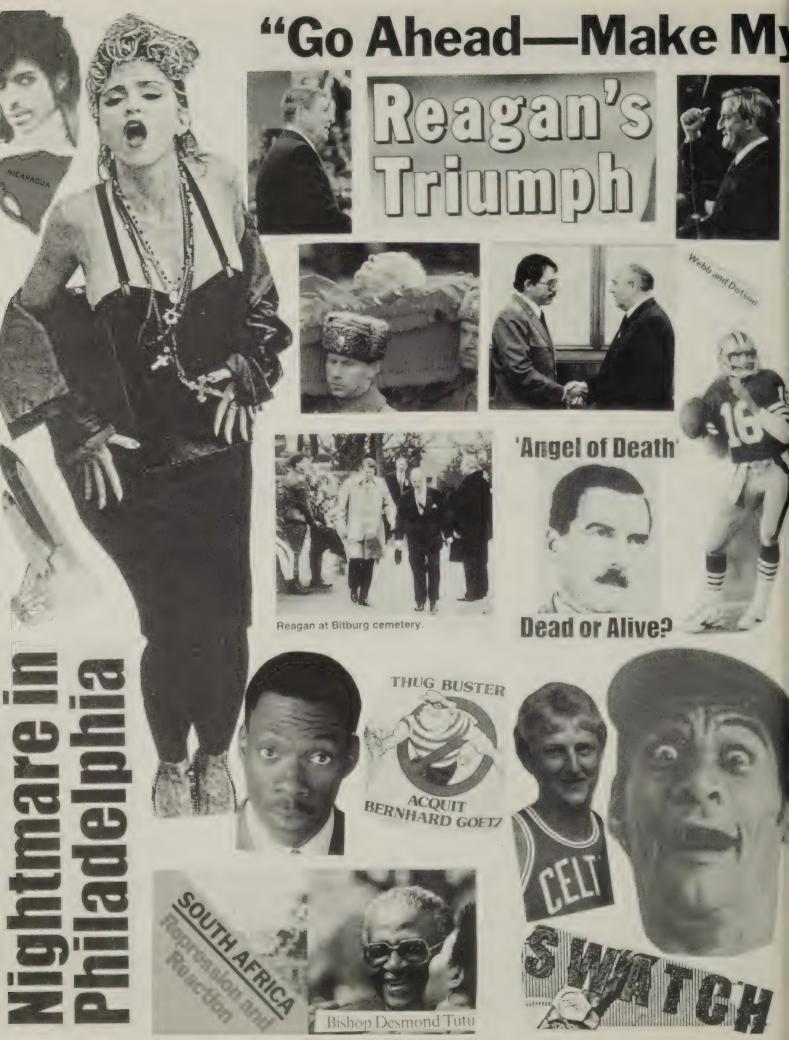

Mr. Smith stressed a motivational theme, and his remarks were well received by the graduating seniors and those in the audience as well. The speech was rated by many teachers as being one of the most interesting ever given at WHS. Following Mr. Smith's address were speeches by Co-Valedictorians Mike Rottenborn and Wendy Wilkinson.

The most important order of business of the night came next as School Board Chairman Dr. William Kappes and Superintendent Dr. Thomas Varner awarded diplomas to the eager seniors. Upon being officially pronounced graduates of Waynesboro High School by Principal Thomas Muncy, members of the Class of '85 were ready to face the rest of their lives . . .

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF '85 ...

All those who did not complete their yearbook work, please stand.

The Phantom typist!

Yes, your legs are nice.

When you awake, you will be running.

Psst . . . Melanie, Wake up. The assembly is over.

Do you like the dance, dear?

Hey, Danny, it's almost over!

I took weight training.

How were your grades?

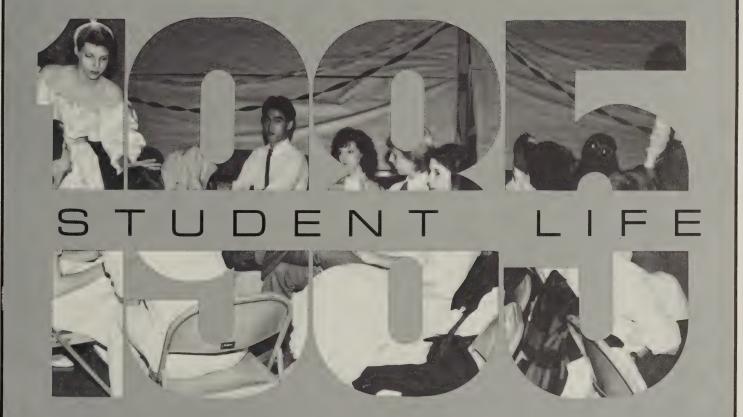

The day after?

I'll never tell.

Friday night and everyone's moving, I can feel the heat and it's soothing. Heading down, I search for the beat in this dirty town.

Downtown, we always are going.

We're the kids in America!

Everybody listen, the music goes 'round!

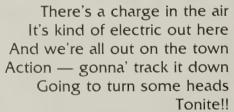

Ghetto blasters, phony jewels Cathedrals, castles, making up rules Trashy novels and leather gloves This the list of things that we love.

The boulevard's crowded and loud It's time for excitement right now. There's no better world to be found If there was, we'd give it all for a lifetime like tonite!

Reach back for the joy and the sorrow,
Put them away in your mind;
For memories are time that you borrow
To spend when you get to tomorrow.

The seasons are passing one by one. So, gather moments while you may; Collect the dreams you dream today And remember.

CLASS OF '86 — APATHY OVERCOMES SCHOOL SPIRIT

Due to widespread apathy, the junior class did not carry out any activities during the 1984-85 school year. Although some juniors were able and willing to put forth the effort, unfortunately they were too few in number. The most disappointing result of this lack of class spirit was the cancellation of one of the school's major annual events — the Junior Variety Show.

Officers for the Class of '86 were: Stacey Jones, president Melanie Bowers, vice president; Denise Fitzgerald, secretary and Donna Dean, treasurer.

CLASS OF '87 HOPES FOR THE FUTURE

This year the sophomore class started the year selling key chains. Because of the lack of enthusiasm and participation at WHS this year, the annual Valentine's Dance was not held. However, the annual "Career Day" at Valley Vocational Technical Center was attended by all sophomores.

Next year, the Class of '87 plans to do many more activities throughout the year, and hopefully morale and school spirit will return.

FRESHMEN FIND THEIR WAY

Making the transition to high school life is not easy, but members of the Class of '88 persevered during the 1984-85 school year, and by year's end most of them were well adjusted to their new routine.

Although their senior year seemed far away, the Freshman Class Council began working on projects that would earn them money and give them experience in organizing activities and carrying out plans. The annual sale of carnations for Valentine's Day was the major class project, and because of the efforts of many class members it was deemed a success.

Other activities during the year included creating displays for the Social Studies Department bulletin board on the second floor of the school. One of the topics was "Who Will Feed The Children" which dealt with the timely topic of world hunger.

Sponsors for the Freshmen Class were Mrs. Giles and Mrs. Tyson.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION, 1972-1985

The past fourteen years during which I have served as faculty adviser for the Skyline Yearbook Staff have been filled with endless hours, much hard work and many frustrations. This activity, however, has been a great learning experience for me, and I would like to thank the many people who have helped to make it bearable. Following is a listing of these people and the contributions they have made:

- The faculty and staff of Waynesboro High School for their cooperation, especially Mr. Milnes Austin and Mr. John Gilbert for their constant, genuine concern and moral support.
- Mr. Richard Lotts and Mr. Ron Hennis, past and present Directors of Student Activities, respectively, for reading 999,999 yearbook announcements during homeroom.
- Mrs. Mary Frances Burnett, Main Office Secretary, for her time and patience in performing an excellent job of clerical assistance.
- Mr. Shirley B. Kiger and Mr. Thomas P. Muncy Jr., WHS Principals under whom I have worked. They both placed great emphasis on the school yearbook and gave me outstanding support. More than anything, I am grateful for their confidence in my judgement.
- Gentry Photography of Harrisonburg for being, by far, the best photography company I have worked with. Thanks to Hubert Gentry, Nancy Lough and all of the excellent photographers over the years.
 - Hunter Publishing Company of Winston-Salem, North Carolina for being a great publishing company.
- Mr. Jim Ellis of Woodstock, Regional Representative of Hunter Publishing Company, for his creative assistance and friendship.
- Finally, a very special thanks to my wife Linda for her photography assistance in the past and for understanding and putting up with the many, many hours that I was away from home because of the yearbook.

In closing, I would like to urge all students who participate in school activities to correct what is, perhaps their greatest flaw—that of "irresponsibility." While I have had some excellent yearbook staff members since 1972, many, especially in recent years, have simply failed to carry out all of their duties. Pages have been left incomplete—some not done at all, advertisements were left unsold, and the like. Nothing has been more frustrating to me than this. I feel that if you accept a task, then you should work to solve it to the best of your ability.

In the future, I wish the best of success to Mrs. Harriet Aylor, incoming yearbook adviser; Doug Johnson, Editor of SKYLINE '86; and all of the advisers and editors who will follow them.
